

Videolar wins "The Best Business Partner – 2010" awarded by Anwell Technologies Limited, celebrating the 10th anniversary of the group.

Anwell is a global supplier of advanced manufacturing equipment and process technologies. Founded in 2000 with its head office in Hong Kong, Anwell was first established in optical media equipment industry riding along the strong expansion of the blank optical disc market. With the strong expertise in process R&D, Anwell has established itself initially as a leading supplier of optical media equipment.

Being an expert in automation system and process engineering with its core technologies of thin-film and vacuum coating, Anwell extends its strength over the global Photovoltaic industry and OLED (Organic Light Emitting Diode) industry.